

The storm of last Sunday night left a snowy fringe on the higher ridges and clothed Santa Rosa, San Jacinto and San Geronimo with new winter garments. Far down the Little San Bernardino toward Morongo Pass the snow extended. It is not often that this happens so early in the winter.

But why mention such a self-evident fact as snow on the mountains. About ten o'clock Monday morning, in the business section of Palm Springs, I asked two persons if they had noticed the snow on the mountains. They seemed quite surprised and replied that they had not seen it. Noticing snow on nearby mountains might be a waste of time for a busy person engaged in business pursuits but sometimes it does seem rather contradictory to drive ahead for material gain with which to retire; then travel to be entranced with the snow on the mountains of some distant land and not to notice the snow on the mountains here, that visitors who have worked hard in some other locality, have come many miles to gaze upon; they sit in the sunshine, look up at the snow on the mountains and consider themselves fortunate that they have worked and saved in order to retire to winters on the Desert of the Palms. That is a rather long and complicated sentence but I hope you get the idea. Proportion in life activities is to be carefully planned. A relative, an overworked physician and surgeon of wide experience, spent the greater part of an evening, years ago, expounding at length upon that subject for my benefit. At the conclusion I asked with all the blunt truthfulness of youth, "Why don't you take a much needed rest?"

Anyway the Doctor's advice contained in that effusive address has been heeded in this far that I try to look upon my daily surroundings with the interest that a traveler from far distant parts would. Hence it is more or less of an informal ritual to look over the landscape and note the various moods during the different periods of the day. I feel that somehow those two persons missed something in not having noticed the snow fringe on the higher ridges.

Randall Henderson, publisher of the Calexico Chronicle, told me of the group of native palms found in the S. H. mountains in Arizona. It seems that they are not of the same species as those growing in this vicinity. The Arizona palm is called Washingtonia arizonica. A few seeds were given to me and they are considerably smaller than our palm tree seeds. I believe that the native habitat of Washingtonia filifera will be found to be confined to the Desert of the Palms and its continuation into a limited section of Mexico.

Last Tuesday I was the guest of the Rotary Club of Calexico. Calexico is situated in the extreme southern section of the Desert of the Palms, where irrigation has pushed the desert from the population centers, creating a great agricultural empire within the desert confines. Credit, in part at least, for making this development possible must be given the Colorado river which deposited the silt on the floor of old Lake Cahulla and now furnishes the water for the irrigation system.

Lake Cahulla formerly occupied the large basin area, lying at about sea level and below, extending from Indio southward just into Mexico. For some time the Colorado River flowed into Lake Cahulla, furnishing water to maintain it against the high evaporation rate and also carrying the silt that settled to the bottom and now composes the rich soil that irrigation has made productive.

Lake Cahulla disappeared when the Colorado river changed its course and again flowed into the Gulf of California. The water is now brought into the basin by man-made ditches which distribute it for use in agricultural pursuits. This diversion of water again led for a short time to the flowing of the river into the basin. That was accidental. But before the water was again confined to its present channel, Salton Sea had been formed in the lowest part of what was formerly included in Lake Cahulla.

ONE DEAD; 12 INJURED; ONE DAY'S CRIST

One dead and twelve seriously injured, all taken to the Banning hospital by Wiefels ambulance, was one day's toll as the result of four highway wrecks, an attempted murder, and a railway accident. All this happened on Wednesday of this week. The wrecks all occurred on the highway between Palm Springs junction and Beaumont.

Frederick A. Price, 74-year-old retired capitalist of Chicago, died at the Banning hospital at 6 p. m. Wednesday as result of injuries received at 12:15 p. m., when his automobile crashed head-on with another vehicle about one mile east of Beaumont on the transcontinental highway.

Two wrecks of serious consequence occurred on Highway 99 and in this locality Wednesday forenoon. In one of the accidents was Farmer Page and his wife. His name is widely known in Los Angeles city politics.

Mr. and Mrs. Page, 3341 Country Drive, Los Angeles, were headed east and reached a point between Cabazon and Banning. Their car was piloted by Lee Moore, 2252 W. 24th street, Los Angeles. Page was on his way to hunt on the Pendleton ranch, near Palm Springs. Suddenly they crashed into a car which was headed toward Banning. It was owned and occupied by F. A. Price, of Chicago, and the driver was Carl Lehman of Chicago. The Price car is said to have been traveling at high speed. As the crash came there were sorry results. Mr. and Mrs. Page had severe cuts, bruises and shock.

Lee Moore, driver of the Page car, suffers from cuts and bruises and also has a broken right knee-cap; and deep gash on left arm.

Lehman, the driver, was unconscious for some time after the accident; he is believed to have a fracture of the skull and internal injuries. He has a broken jaw and may have concussion of the brain.

The injured were removed in the Wiefels ambulance to the Banning Hospital.

One wreck Wednesday was followed by another, which occurred on the Palm Springs highway, a short distance south of the junction with Highway 99. A car driven by Ernest Banbo, who was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Bruseth, turned over when it struck a soft shoulder on the road. The three are residents of Ontario. Bruseth and Banbo were thrown clear of the car, and were not injured, it is said. Mrs. Bruseth has a broken leg. She was taken to the Banning Hospital.

A series of wrecks occurred on Highway 99 and in this locality Sunday which were attributed to heavy traffic and slippery pavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Wennerberg were returning from Palm Springs and upon reaching Cabazon they experienced a collision with another car. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wennerberg were painfully, although not seriously, injured. Mr. Wennerberg attends the University of Redlands. Mrs. Wennerberg, formerly Carmel Leach, is a member of the Banning grammar schools faculty. The car which collided with the Wennerberg car was driven by Donald Markham of Los Angeles.

Officers Dillon and Jessup checked on an accident which occurred near Whitewater, Sunday afternoon, in which an aqueduct employee by the name of Rodriguez was a car driver. His car was struck by a car loaded with Filipinos. One of the Filipinos was seriously injured and was taken to the Banning Hospital.

An accident in which tourists figured occurred on a Banning street. It is said that no one was injured in this case. Filipinos also figured in it. They are numerous on the highway, being on their way to work in Imperial Valley field crops.

Charles Stuck and companion were riding motorcycles from Burlington, Iowa, to Los Angeles. Stuck's machine skidded and he was violently thrown to the ground. He suffered head injuries, cuts and bruises, and was treated at the Banning Hospital.

A wreck involving several cars occurred between Cabazon and White-

LITTLE THEATRE TO PRESENT FOLLIES OF PALM SPRINGS

The Little Theatre of Palm Springs will present the "Palm Springs Follies" sometime after Christmas.

The Follies is being written by the group itself with the collaboration of S. G. Engle, noted screen writer, who is under contract to Fox Twentieth Century Studios. Mr. Engle is stopping at the Desert Inn, where he is working on a forthcoming picture story.

Meetings of the group are held every Monday evening at the Hammond house at the southeast corner of Arenas Road and Palm Canyon Drive. Everyone interested in Little Theatre activities is cordially invited to attend the meetings.

To Shoot Palm Springs Picture

Walter Wanger Productions will make a feature picture entitled, "Palm Springs," which will be filmed entirely in this community. A full company from Paramount is scheduled to arrive here early in December to begin work on the production. Elliott Nugent will be the director. Sir Guy Standing, Ida Lupino, Ernest Cossart, and Henry Fonda have been tentatively selected to take leading parts. The picture is to be a comedy-drama based on a story by Miles Connolly and adapted by Humphrey Pearson, a local resident.

Loft News Service

The Loft News Service opened its offices here yesterday on the upper floor of the theatre building. A teletype sending and receiving machine has been installed, and the office is connected by direct wire with all the major race tracks of the country. Reports of all races come in over the wire as they are run throughout the race meets, and are posted on the board.

RAIN KEEPS AWAY CROWD; INSURANCE PAYS THE BILL

Despite the threatening weather Sunday afternoon, a fair-sized audience heard the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra in the first annual desert symphony. It is believed that a thousand or more people were kept away because of the heavy downpour between Palm Springs and the coast. However, it did not rain here until the last strains of the concert were heard, and within a short time there was a heavy rain.

But for the foresight of the Associates, the organization, which guaranteed to make up any deficit, would have suffered considerable loss. The event was insured against rain, consequently Herbert Samson, of the Kocher-Samson insurance agency, delivered a check for $997.60 to the Concert committee, which was the difference between $1,002.40 realized from ticket sales, and $2,000, the amount of the insurance. However, there were some incidental expenses relative to the concert and nationwide broadcast, which was paid by the Associates.

The audience seemed to sense that the music voiced the emotions of the gifted conductor, Pierre Monteux. He lived the music. Mrs. Monteux and daughter, Nanci, accompanied him here.

water Sunday night. G. E. Wilson of San Francisco, representing a steel company, crashed into a car driven by Edward Kuhl of Los Angeles; then his machine swerved to the other side of the road and struck a car driven by Henry B. Garwood of Pasadena. Fortunately no one was injured. The Wilson machine was damaged quite badly. Wilson was arrested by Officers Ray Dillon and Ralph Stringfellow and lodged in the Banning jail, charged with driving while intoxicated. He was fined $200.

Mrs. R. W. Taylor, wife of the S. P. agent, has a broken collar bone. She and her husband started for Calexico Saturday evening. A collision occurred, with another car.

PALM SPRINGS FIELD CLUB INCORPORATES; BUYS THIRTY ACRES

A race track and a field for all sorts of equestrian events, such as the Desert Circus, is now assured. The Palm Springs Field Club, a corporation capitalized at $50,000, was organized Tuesday evening. Thirty acres in Section 13, one mile east of the village on Ramon Road, has been purchased, and work will start at once to improve the property, making it ready for the Desert Circus to be held next Spring.

Further improvements will be made from time to time, as funds are available, and it is the intention to eventually have a good polo field, inside a fast half-mile track.

Warren Pinney, who is an attorney, is preparing the incorporation papers. Directors chosen Tuesday evening were A. F. Hicks, Warren Pinney, Earl Coffman, H. E. Patterson, John R. E. Chaffey, Hobart Garlick, Philip Boyd, Frank Bennett, E. T. Fulford, Thomas Lipps, and George Roberson. There will be 15 directors, so it will be necessary to select four more representative citizens.

BILL TILDEN II, AND OTHER TENNIS STARS PLAY HERE SUNDAY

Famous tennis players, among them William T. Tilden, II, will play in exhibition matches on the courts of the Racquet Club, Sunday afternoon. Tilden, foremost tennis star of the country, will be the chief attraction, and he will play in both singles and doubles competition.

Other tennis stars who will play in the competitions Sunday are: Ben Gorchakoff, former intercollegiate champion and former national and Southern California singles and doubles champion; Norval Craig, former national singles and doubles champion; and Harvey Snodgrass, former Southern California singles and doubles champion, as well as a former national singles and doubles champion.

Proceeds will be used for the relief of destitute, to be administered by the Friendly Aid Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Ralph Bellamy and Charles Farrell, founders of the Racquet Club, will be in charge of the affair.

AQUEDUCT WORKER BADLY INJURED AT CABAZON SHAFT ON THURSDAY

Chas. E. Ward, a miner employed on the Cabazon shaft, drilled into a charge of dynamite which had not been discharged in a previous blast. The accident occurred Thursday.

Ward, who resides at Beaumont, was badly injured and was rushed to the Berdoo hospital. It was reported that he lost both legs, both arms, his eyes and teeth. This report is erroneous, but the fact remains that he is in bad condition.

The accident is of a nature that is very rare. Old miners can scarcely recall a similar case.

TWO INJURED AT CABAZON THURSDAY EVE

Roland Puffer and H. C. Brinkman, employed by the Knudson Company on the aqueduct, were badly injured early Thursday evening, three miles east of Cabazon, when they were east-bound and their car turned over. Puffer was taken to the Banning Hospital where he was found to be suffering from severe injuries.

Brinkman was the more seriously injured of the two, and was taken to the Redlands hospital. Fears are expressed that he cannot recover. Puffer is timekeeper for the Knudson Company.

CENTRAL ANNEX SWIMMING POOL OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

The Central Annex swimming pool has been completed and is now open to the public. The large new heating system is working perfectly, and consequently a constant flow of warm water is assured.

CALL FOR BIDS ON NEW POLICE-FIRE BUILDING

The boards of fire and police commissioners have called for bids for the construction of the new fire and police station, to be built on the lot north of the new telephone building, fronting on Palm Canyon Drive. Bids are to be opened at 7 p. m. on December 9, in the office of Charles O. Matcham, architect, in the El Paseo Building.

A. F. Hicks, chairman, Charles Bosworth, secretary, and John Kline are the fire commissioners. John Holditch, chairman, C. G. Lykken, secretary, and George Roberson are police commissioners.

Bids for the new sewer system will be opened in the school library at 8 p. m. on December 3rd.

Palm Springs was featured this week in a full-page color advertisement on page 60 of the Saturday Evening Post. The advertisement was published for the Pacific Greyhound Lines. The caption of the advertisement is, "Palm Springs, Where Hollywood Stars Play."

Milton Yonan-Malek, whose family were tribal rulers in Persia for nine centuries, is the guest of Ed. Lindop, whom he knew in Chicago, where he has lived in recent years. "Malek" is a family title meaning "tribal king." For centuries members of his family ruled more than 100,000 tribesmen in the section called "The Paradise of Persia," which is similar to Palm Springs. The family was exiled shortly after the World War, and came to America. The young man was educated in this country, attending private schools and the University of Wisconsin. He wants to remain in Palm Springs if he can arrange it.

(By Carl Barkow)

"Desert of the Palms" seems to be the accepted name, in Palm Springs, to take the place of that misnomer, "Colorado Desert." Since the last issue of this newspaper, we have heard many comments, and only one person has suggested retaining the old name. If the decision is going to be unanimous, let's use the new name in all our literature, stationery, and letters. At least, no one will be led astray by the new name, which distinguishes this from all other deserts.

Sports writers are busy trying to pick All-American, All-East, All-Mid-West, or All-Coast football teams, while this writer seems to have started an All-Patriarch or All-Veterans team. Recently we discovered that Robert L. Edwards, poet-laureate of Palm Springs, played right tackle on the Cornell varsity team back in 1888-90. Now someone has called our attention to the fact that Dr. C. D. Williamson, pastor of the Community church, was a former college football star. When asked about it this week, he admitted that he played center on the Illinois College team back in 1896 and 1897, when the center was the "flying wedge" and football players wore spikes on their shoes. We need nine more veteran players and our team will be complete.

A letter from the secretary of the Pasadena Poultry Association to the editor of The Desert Sun, gives us some information that we had not even suspected. He writes: "You are located in the heart of the great poultry industry. Your prosperity largely depends upon the progress of that industry." Well, that may be true, but the only chickens we have seen during our ten years in Palm Springs, wore shorts or were served on a platter.

The desert symphony concert came over the air "clear as a bell," is the report from an Iowa relative received at The Desert Sun office. "The afternoon was dreary here, and we wished we could have been with you in the desert sunshine beneath the 'azure sky,' as your radio announcer told us." Probably a few million others thought the same thing.

And it had to rain on Sunday throughout Southern California when music lovers by the hundreds had planned to come here for the concert by the Los Angeles Philharmonic Symphony orchestra. Naturally they thought the weather would also be bad in Palm Springs. We can thank a few cautious citizens for their foresight in taking out rain insurance for the event, which made up the deficit. Orchids also to the ladies of the Desert Forum who sold a thousand dollars worth of tickets. We simply wouldn't have the finer things of life if the ladies didn't help us get them.

Wednesday of this week was a hectic day at the Banning hospital. Wiefels ambulance was on the road most of the day carrying maimed and bleeding bodies to the hospital, where surgeons, barely finishing with one patient, had to administer to the next. How's this for a horrifying record: Thirteen injured, two of them fatally, all in one day, all taken in the same ambulance and to the same hospital in one little town, as the result of four auto wrecks, an attempted murder and a train accident. If some of our reckless drivers could have accompanied the ambulance driver and witnessed the torture of the injured and the anguish of helpless friends and relatives, they might slow down a bit, for a while, at least.

Speaking of auto accidents, what became of the bill, proposed to the state legislature last session, which would keep trucks off state highways from Saturday noon until 2 a. m. Monday morning? For some reason or other the matter was quickly hushed. And there were several proposals to tax diesel-engine trucks for the privilege of spoiling the pleasure of everyone else on the highway—but nothing was done about that.

Honeymooning at the Palm Springs Hotel were Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Ryan, Jr., of Taft.

ATTEMPT TO KILL MAN IN BEAUMONT

"Crime Marches On." Police of Riverside and San Bernardino counties were searching Tuesday night for a fugitive from justice who shot Ralph Mosher in Beaumont at an early hour that evening.

Mosher, the wounded man, was rushed by ambulance to the Banning Hospital. He presented a gruesome sight, as he bled profusely from a charge of gunshot which had been fired at close range.

Mosher was wounded in the head, left shoulder and behind the ear. At the hospital yesterday he was able to talk, but could give no clue leading to the identity of his assailant, nor could he give the reason for the assault. Mosher is an ex-service man, resident of Beaumont for several months past.

Mosher, age 37, disabled war veteran, was shot down in the parlor of his home on East Sixth street, by an unknown assailant who crept to the window of his house shortly after dark, and fired point blank at the ex-service man with a 410 gauge shotgun. Mosher was struck by two shots, once in the back of the head and in the left shoulder.

The attempted murder took place around 6:45 p. m., though due to the fact that Mosher might have lain unconscious on the floor of his home before staggering to the La France Winery, to tell by incoherent motions that he had been shot, the time is purely conjectural.

Whether Mosher was shot by someone seeking revenge, or by a drifter is not known. His sheltered life in this region, where he was known to only a few people, balks any attempt to determine whether he had incurred the enmity of someone who might have traced him to this community and then in a cold-blooded manner stood at the window of his home and fired at him with a shotgun.

On Monday Mosher received a government compensation check, according to sheriff's station officers, investigating the case. However, so far as can be determined at the present time, his assailant did not enter the house, and no evidence is present to indicate that the motive for the attack was robbery. Very little is known of Mosher's life. A grudge might have been the motive.

The shots were fired from the west window, a jagged hole in the glass, around which powder burns are easily discernible, attesting the close proximity of the gunman who attempted to slay the war veteran, and bloody splashes on the floor show that Mosher must have collapsed on the floor. How long he may have lain there cannot be determined definitely. He finally staggered to the LaFrance Winery where he notified them by motions that he had been shot.

L. E. Terry, one of the few friends in whom Mosher had confided, was called to the Banning Hospital late Tuesday night, when medical attendants reported that Mosher was calling for him. Terry left for Banning and was with the wounded man practically all night. Mosher recognized him and spoke, declared Terry, but also added that he was delirious and seemed unable to speak. Grave fears were felt for a time due to a previous illness suffered by Mosher.

Neither Terry nor others locally who knew Mosher could believe that a possible grudge of long standing could have precipitated the shooting. Both affirmed that Mosher was a friendly type of person who got along well with those he knew. They scouted the idea of a secret enemy and declared that in all the time they knew Mosher, he had given not the slightest

W. C. Gunn, Palm Springs resident, who operates the Palm Canyon Drive In Market in the village, sustained a fracture of the knee late yesterday and was removed to a Riverside hospital in the Wiefels ambulance with Bert Thompson at the wheel. Reports of the accident, in which Mr. Gunn was injured, are meager; but it is said he was alighting from his car when struck by a passing car.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry Lundberg of Los Angeles visited with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Grove three days last week. The doctor has been very busy in his Los Angeles office recently and came here for a few days of rest.

PALM SPRINGS Eight Years Ago

(From the Files of The Desert Sun, November 18, 1927)

Palm Springs grammar school has 160 students enrolled, and the rooms are so crowded that a fifth teacher will be added to the staff.

Hotel Winter Garden has been remodeled and enlarged to accommodate 50 guests. The patio will be planted to desert trees and shrubs. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tauscher are sparing no expense to make the hotel comfortable and modern in every respect.

One unit of the new El Mirador Hotel will be ready for this season, and will open on January 1st. Gardeners are busy beautifying the grounds.

Thirty members of the Chamber of Commerce enjoyed dinner Tuesday noon at the Desert Inn. Thomas O'Donnell, the president, told some interesting things about his recent European trip, which included attendance at the International Chamber of Commerce in Sweden, when delegates were entertained by the Royal family.

A number of articles lauding the desert play published in the metropolitan press, are reprinted in this issue of The Desert Sun.

Ed Bunker is doing real wild west work this week while driving a herd over the Palm Canyon trail to the Bunker ranch in the San Jacinto and Santa Rosa mountains.

Raymond Cree has resigned from the school board and Miss Cornelia White has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

Mrs. Malinda Woodworth, formerly Riverside county home demonstrator, has purchased a very fine homestead in Las Palmas Estates.

Mrs. Colburn of Los Angeles is opening her winter home in Araby.

A committee has been appointed to cooperate with the Palm Springs school board in beautifying the school grounds. Thomas O'Donnell donated $500 for the piping of water to the grounds, and P. T. Stevens donated $500 for water service.

Palm Springs Estates tract roads are being oiled, the first streets to be so improved in this village.

George Monford, editor of the Long Beach Press-Telegram, and Mrs. Monford were guests over the week-end of George Frederick Gleich, well-known local artist.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burkett entertained with a birthday party for Miss Ruth Champlin one evening this week.

Mrs. J. J. Kocher was hostess on Friday in the adobe dining room of the Oasis Hotel, having invited fourteen ladies for luncheon.

Incorporation papers for the Palm Springs Water Company were filed this week with County Clerk Clayton. The corporation is to be capitalized at $200,000. Carlos R. Mina, Philip Grey Smith and Albert Mosher, each owning one share of stock, have made the application.

Fred Clatworthy, Jr., high school sophomore, took ten aerial photographs of Palm Canyon and Palm Springs this week. The camera, which takes a picture in one-thousandths of a second, had to be tied to the young photographer as he held it over the side when the pictures were taken. W. M. Gray piloted the plane.

RAYWOOD FLATS HAS ELEVEN INCHES OF SNOW

The storm, the early part of this week, brought eleven inches of snow to Raywood Flats, lying at an elevation of 7,200 feet between San Geronimo Pass and Mt. Grayback. Reduced to rain this means 1.40 inches.

The region blanketed with snow is a substantial feeder for Banning, Cabazon and Palm Springs water supply.

HAD NO LICENSE
GETS FINE OR JAIL

As a result of the intensive investigation of persons operating in the real estate business without being properly licensed, the State Real Estate department is preparing to file complaints against several violators of the California Real Estate Act.

A complaint was recently filed against a southwest resident who was convicted of illegally accepting a commission for renting an apartment. The defendant, who failed to secure a real estate license, was sentenced to pay a fine of $30 or serve a term of 15 days in the county jail.

According to J. Mortimer Clark, real estate commissioner, the department will devote particular attention to cases of operating without a license. The Los Angeles territory is now being thoroughly checked and the work will soon be spread to other centers of Southern California.

William E. Walters of Palm Springs was in justice court Tuesday on the charge of intoxication. He was fined $20.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text is from Lamentations, "The Lord is good unto them that wait for him, to the soul that seeketh him."

One of the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon cites Paul's words to the Corinthians, "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. . . . Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord; (for we walk by faith, not by sight;) we are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord."

The Lesson-Sermon includes also this passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Become conscious for a single moment that Life and intelligence are purely spiritual,—neither in nor of matter,—and the body will then utter no complaints. . . . Sorrow is turned into joy when the body is controlled by spiritual Life, Truth, and Love."

ELWOOD LLOYD HERE TO WRITE VOLUMES ON "AMERICANOLGY"

Elwood Lloyd, well-known writer and traveler, arrived this week, to make his home here during the next 18 months, while he is compiling "Americanology" for a new encyclopedia of the United States, which will be published by Doubleday Doran. While here he will also serve as staff correspondent for the Los Angeles Times.

Mr. Lloyd has had a very interesting career. Three and a half years ago he left Palm Springs, with his two beautiful Collie dogs, in an old Model A Ford and a home-made trailer, or house car, which he purchased from Walter Bunker. Last week he returned with the same old car and trailer, after having traveled about 35,000 miles, some of which being on the worst roads of this country and Canada. He looks hale and hearty after the long trip, and the dogs also seem happy to be back in Palm Springs.

The writer is looking for an isolated cabin, or one in a quiet neighborhood, where he can work undisturbed. He will send out 35,000 question-

? WAKE UP !!

YOU CAN'T
THIS BARGAIN

This ad will mean a tidy fortune to someone who can invest the very small sum of $3,000.00. And say, you'll be convinced; so don't hesitate to come out and see the ARCH CAFE and COURT of nine cabins at Cathedral City, the fast growing suburb just five miles south of Palm Springs.

WHY? Because $400.00 a month NET! which is over 50 percent (not 8 percent or 10 percent, or even 25 percent or 30 percent) but 50 percent! on this low price of only $8,500.00—FULLY EQUIPPED, TOO! Isn't that SOME return? 50 percent net, and clear?

All right, then get out here and see this sweet little business which is a pleasure to run, which caters to the best class of trade (the local residents of Palm Springs plus the natural overflow tourist trade who drive out here for the lovely ride and just to be going somewhere). I'm NOT a good cafe man, so am glad I'm suddenly called to take back my old job in Beverly Hills; otherwise it would not be for sale at twice the price, as this price is just what it has cost me and couldn't be rebuilt under $10,000.00.

P. S.—You do NOT have to be EXPERIENCED in the cafe business (I'm NOT), because the help does all the work, and run it very efficiently. (Though it's easy to learn.) Fact is, this business runs itself. Furthermore, it will pay for itself entirely in three years or even less, and you'll own a $10,000 property, without one cent out of your pocket.

Thoughts on Things

Harvey Johnson

Los Angeles grand jury is going after the political boys who are letting down-town streets in the Angel City go unswept. The metropolitan angels are compelled to wade through drifts of banana peel, old papers, dust, mud, and cigaret butts, knee-deep. The grand jury may recommend that every third row of the junk on the streets be plowed under.

An Eastern judge, in awarding damages for injuries resulting from an automobile wreck, ruled that the driver was intoxicated on love. He was hilarious from an overdose of it. There wasn't a taint of booze on his love-laden breath; but when he neglected the steering wheel to pay attention to the sweet thing who was seated beside him, a wreck followed, a third party was injured and it will cost Lochinvar more than two thousand grand.

There are several hundred languages in the world, which makes matters rather confusing at times. "Sanction" in English, so-to-speak, means to approve or permit, but when "sanctions" are applied against Italy it means to prohibit. Just so, the English language says that to "raise" means to lift, while "raze" means to tear down. No wonder that foreigners, trying to learn this language, have a lot of trouble in attempting to master its complexities. Spanish is misleading, too. On the road to Ensenada the sign says "Dispatchio" (might mean "Hurry"), but which means, it is said, "Slow." The deaf and dumb who talk with their fingers may have the best of it yet.

In browsing or rummaging around over the calendar it is learned that Thanksgiving is just around the corner. That festive day comes from the fact that some old pioneers called Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock, and not liking the soil there, moved inland and took to farming and shooting wild turkeys and Indians, as well as attending church with their guns to ward off the attacks of the friendly Indians. It's a long view back over the centuries to the time when this deep dent in United States history was made by a lot of daring Englishmen. They were beaten in the discovery of America by Lief Erikson, a Viking fish-eater; and Christopher Columbus who was backed on his sailing venture by the money resulting from the sale of Queen Isabella's wedding ring, wrist watch and King Alphonso's grandfather's clock.

So, let us be thankful, on the 28th, that America was discovered; and let us hope that, in its present dilemma, America may discover or find itself once more.

For, as the radio says "Time Marches On." (Pardon us, Mr. Alfred E. Smith of New York City, for mispronouncing "radio.")

INTERESTING PICTURE IN YE OLDE KENTUCKY TAVERN

A small, but very interesting photograph hangs in the lobby of Ye Olde Kentucky Tavern. It is a print of a photograph of "The Hunt Ball," taken in the East Room of the White House, in 1872. The occasion was a ball in honor of Lord Hunt, Great Britain's ambassador to the United States. Lord Hunt, seated in the foreground of the picture, was a great uncle of Mrs. E. M. Potter, who, with her daughter, Bertrude, operate Ye Olde Kentucky Tavern in Palm Springs. Other interesting characters in the picture, besides Lord Hunt, are Nellie Grant, daughter of the former President, and an ancestor of Charles Evans Hughes, who looks very much like his illustrious descendant.

"PRES-TO-LOGS", IDEAL FUEL FOR FURNACES AND FIRE-PLACES, ON SALE HERE

Lykken's Department Store has the agency for "Pres-to-Logs," the new economical and clean fuel for furnaces, fire-places, or heaters. The logs, measuring 4x12 inches, are made under pressure of 165,000 pounds, and are three times as dense as wood. The logs burn long, with a steady, intense heat, leaving no ash, clinkers, or waste. There is no dirt, smoke, soot, sparks, or odor. They are put up in cartons of six.

SHOP OF CHARM OPENS IN NEW CARNELL BUILDING

Madam Kalisch, president of Shop of Charm, Inc., is in the village this week to supervise placing of stock and fixtures in the company's new shop of the same name, in Room No. 4 of the Carnell building.

The Shop of Charm has been located for years in Palm Beach, Florida. A line of modern and antique jewelry, antique amber and garnets, Russian handcraft, and imported shawls and dolls, is carried in stock. Madam Kalisch expects the shop will be open on or about Saturday.

RUPTURE CURABLE EXPERT COMING

That rupture is curable is the statement of W. A. Webster, hernia expert, who has handled thousands of such cases. He states that rupture is not a breach or tear, but comes through a weakened opening—therefore, subject to being strengthened and returned to proper functioning. Why not get immediate relief when you have opportunity to do so? Mr. Webster will make examinations, free of cost, of men, women and children, all day the coming Saturday—to be more explicit the hours will be from 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. Saturday, November 23, at Hal's Pharmacy, corner Ramsey street and San Geronimo avenue, in Banning. Private examination rooms have been arranged.

Anyone who cannot come between the hours mentioned can arrange for a special appointment. h46-r47-sg-16

The Desert Sun

OF PALM SPRINGS, CALIFORNIA
JOHNSON & BARKOW, Publishers
Harvey Johnson and Carl Barkow

Entered at the Post Office at Palm Springs, California, August 5, 1927, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

"BETTER OFF DEAD"

"—And Sudden Death," the auto accident article that took the country by storm a month or so ago, now has a sequel. J. C. Furnas has written another.

Few who read Furnas' first plea for safety will ever forget the horror of it. He told such gruesome details as the "pointless flopping" of injured victims attempting to stand up and the nauseating appearance of a human head sliced off clean at the eyebrows.

The first plea was a national event. It was printed in thousands of newspapers throughout the nation, was distributed widely in pamphlet form, was passed out to violators by traffic officers, and was dramatized on the screen by "March of Time."

The new article that came out last week in a booklet published by Simon & Schuster likewise ought to be read by everyone who drives a car. It is of the same character, and entitled "Better Off Dead." The theme of it is that all accident victims don't die, but the lots of them wish they had.

"He was doubled up like a broken stick," Mr. Furnas describes a man with a back broken in an automobile accident. "They didn't dare try to unbend him till they reached the hospital. He was still alive and conscious. He proved that by stealing a policeman's gun out of its holster and trying to shoot himself while he still had the chance. "Thanks to the doctors that man is still alive. He has been operated on 25 times. He is always in acute pain and paralyzed from the waist down. . . . All that ever happens is that the orderlies come and take him up to the operating room for another hopeless job."

These horror pictures of J. C. Furnas' are pretty stiff medicine to read. But apparently what America needs is stiff medicine, which, although unpleasant, often saves people from even greater unpleasantness.

Half the spinning of the cable for the San Francisco-Oakland bridge has been completed and now the work of "squeezing" the 17,464 individual wires into compact 28 3-4 inch "suspenders" has been started by a huge hydraulic jack which exerts a pressure of many tons.

Prominent movie star denies he is engaged to be married, since he already has one wife. Married folks should at least wait until divorced before becoming engaged. That's etiquette.

Some of the down-town streets in Los Angeles are not being swept because of a political row between the city council and a county supervisor. Politics has a name for being dirty.

Industry in the United States is producing about 90 percent of what it produced in 1929, but is employing only 82 percent of the number of people on the 1929 payrolls, and we are paying them only 74 percent of the 1929 wage total. Nobody can contemplate these figures without recognizing such a situation cannot continue.

A scout says that there is impending a serious shortage of movie talent. He must think Mae West will some day become old and feeble. She is apparently good for fifty years more.

This is not a promise; but there is likely to be no sleigh-rides in this locality during the Christmas season.

Children With Old-time Medicine Show Have Unique School Record

An old-time medicine show, with high-powered orators, comedians, actors, and "the doctor," recalled "the gay nineties" to old-timers here this week. The tent show has been operating on the Indian reservation, south of the Indian store, during the week. That the show has been on the move for some time, is evidenced by the school attendance transcript of two children of the manager, James and Edith Troy, two clever young folk who enrolled in Banning Union high school, Monday morning. James is a sophomore and Mary Edith a freshman. They brought the most unique record of attendance of any two students who have entered the high school in the past six and one-half years—and probably for all time. Their parents are show folk, making one-week stands throughout the school year. James, for instance, has been in fifty-nine schools in the past two and one-fourth years. In his eighth year, he attended an even thirty. As a high school freshman, he linked up with nineteen. The first ten weeks of this year, he has made ten. Mary Edith's record goes back to 1932-33 when she was in attendance at four-teen schools for the year. In 1933-34, she rung up twenty-eight. Last year's record will show her name on the registers of twenty-four schools, and this year as a freshman in high school she is contacting B. U. H. S. as the tenth school in ten weeks. Seventy-six schools, then, in three and one-fourth years! Both pupils come in and ask for what they want with confidence, walk into classes with assurance, and know "what it is all about." James is registered for United States history, geometry and English, and Mary Edith carries Spanish, algebra and English. Each is well socialized, thoroughly well behaved and efficient, meeting all classes promptly and making every minute count.

Louella Parsons, well-known Los Angeles newspaper columnist, was hostess at a cocktail party, in honor of the birthday anniversary of her husband, Dr. Harry Martin, in the lounge at the Racquet Club, Saturday evening. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Capra, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Levee, Sally Eilers, Harry Joe Brown, Carole Lombard, Robert Riskin, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Penner, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woolsey, Clifford Webb, Mildred Kelleher, Noll Guernsey, Warner Baxter, and Bert Wheeler.

PALM SPRINGS BOYS WINNERS IN BOXING BOUTS AT ONTRRIO

Two thousand fight fans rooted and applauded for Palm Springs Wednesday evening at Ontario when two out of three entries of the Palm Springs Athletic Club won their bouts.

Cotton Hagar won a decisive victory, while Manuel Lujon, after being knocked down for a count of seven in the first round, knocked out his opponent in the fourth. Manuel Ortega of Palm Springs was not quite so fortunate, for he lost his bout by a knock-out.

The boxing bouts were held under the auspices of the Ontario American Legion Post.

The local boys are receiving their training under the direction of the Palm Springs Athletic Club at the Palm Springs Garage. The club has developed 10 good fighters.

BOWLING NOISE REDUCED TO THE RUMBLE OF TRAFFIC

It is reported that sound-proofing at the Palm Springs Bowling Academy has accomplished the desired results, eliminating most of the noise. Outside the building the faint rumbling can scarcely be distinguished from the sound of passing highway traffic, a sound to which everyone is accustomed.

The bowling alley is a popular rendezvous for sportsmen and motion picture people. Among those participating in the games this week were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bellamy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hollingsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Penner, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lukas, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Joe Brown, Irene Hervey, Arlene Judge, Robert Taylor, Cesar Romero, Lloyd Pantages and his sister, Carmen Considine, and Glenda Farrell.

BOMB CACHE LOCATED BY FEDERAL MEN IN IMPERIAL VALLEY

Twelve huge sinister looking metal "bombs," measuring 14 inches in length and 3 1/2 inches in diameter with a length of fuse protruding from the end of each, were discovered by customs border patrolmen in a dry canal northeast of Calexico.

Quite by chance two cruising officers stopped at a canal crossing. Beneath the bridge one of the instruments of destruction was sighted. A search disclosed the others.

What their nature is or for what purpose they were intended is a mystery. Theories advanced include: the "bombs" may be part of the ammunition which, it was rumored, was smuggled through Imperial valley last spring when the revolution scare was on in Mexico, or they may have been smuggled from Mexico into the United States in connection with proposed radical activities.

DESERT TRAILSIDE MUSEUM TO START IN PALM CANYON

The Desert Trailside Museum will be established in Palm Canyon this winter. The Indians last week gave permission to Ted Zschokke, the naturalist, to build his proposed out-of-doors museum in a very suitable location in Palm Canyon, thus ending a three-year search.

The site lies in an old abandoned channel of the river four hundred yards up the canyon from the Trading Post. It is perhaps unfortunate that it is that far from the end of the road, but that is the only fault in an otherwise beautiful location. The two hot springs with their palm groups overlooking the canyon, and the several acres of level land above the flood level make it marvelously well suited for this venture.

A museum of the type proposed, as shown by the Desert Nature Trail of two years ago, can with very little expense be made into a worthwhile enterprise. The Nature Trail presented to the public an hour and a quarter of exhibits at a cost of less than fifty dollars for materials and three or four months work on the part of Mr. Zschokke and his father. As the materials for the exhibits are still at hand it would not cost very much to install them and add to them so as to have at least two "visitors hours" of exhibits.

Because of the location, this would be very well worthwhile even at the start. A museum can be thought of as distributing to the public amusement and education. Although the visitors are the ones who directly receive these values, it is a mistaken policy for museums to have an admission charge in order to maintain their work. The situation is similar to that of libraries or schools. The Indians realizing that the museum would increase their gate receipts are loaning the land, rent free, which is quite a help. The naturalist feels that the village and Riverside county should contribute to the financial support of

Manager Earle Strebe announces daily matinees, at 2:30, at the Palm Springs Theatre.

Some of the best feature picture of the year will be shown at the theatre next week. The attraction today and Saturday is "I Live My Life," with Joan Crawford, Brian Aherne and Frank Morgan.

Sunday and Monday "China Seas" will be here, with Clark Gable, Jean Harlow and Wallace Beery in the stellar roles. An added feature will be a Pete Smith subject, "Strikes and Spares."

A picture made in and around Palm Springs during the heat of last June will be the feature Tuesday only. It will be remembered that nearly a hundred movie folk were here for several weeks early last summer while shooting scenes for "The Last Outpost" in an Arabian village on the desert two miles east of Palm Springs last summer, in Palm and other canyons hereabouts.

Being a film actor is a more or less hazardous undertaking, Cary Grant and Claude Rains both decided during the filming of "The Last Outpost," the Paramount picture coming to the Palm Springs Theatre, Tuesday only, November 26, with Gertrude Michael and Kathleen Burke.

They narrowly escaped serious injury when a boulder weighing several hundreds of pounds broke off from a rocky cliff under which they were working and hurtled to the ground at their feet. Working under cliffs on the desert is particularly dangerous during the summer months because contractions and expansions of the rock, due to the extremes of temperature, cause large chunks to break off and fall.

The location scenes which they were filming at the time of the near-accident show the heat-ridden sands and danger-packed jungles of Arabia, the background around which this romantic story is played. The picture, directed by Charles Barton, tells the dramatic tale of two brother-officers who come face to face with death as each tries to prove his right to the girl they both love. What happens furnishes a gripping, melo-dramatic climax.

"The Last Outpost" is a thrilling, colorful account of war that was waged between Kurds and British on the Eastern Front, in the Arabian deserts and jungles, and in the mountains of Mesopotamia during the World War.

Greta Garbo with a superb supporting cast, in one of her best pictures, "Anna Karenina," will be here Wednesday, Nov. 27, only. Members of this venture in return for the indirect benefits that would come to them.

Though the value of a museum cannot be expressed in dollars, some idea of its earning power can be had in this way. The proposed museum expects to have at least an attendance of 50 visitors a day, (only a fraction of those who visit the canyon). These people would spend on an average over half an hour on the paths so that the museum would be distributing at least twenty-five hours of amusement value a day. Amusement costs about fifty cents an hour, so that at the very minimum, the museum would be "earning" ten to fifteen dollars a day—or expressing it differently, the visitors would be obligated to that extent to the sponsors of the museum.

From an educational standpoint it would be even more valuable to the village and county, for it would be adding to the visitors' appreciation of the desert and therefore his interest in it. As a rule, people are most interested in those things they understand, and can see those things they already know something about. The stranger to the desert does not see the creosote bush when he looks at the scrub that covers the desert. If he looks at it at all he hardly notices its existence. Yet, in his mind, he has probably built up a romantic thought about the creosote bush along with his thoughts regarding "sage brush" and desert water holes. He would be interested in knowing which bush it is and would take pleasure in pointing it out to his friends and feel less the stranger for being able to do so. If he could recognize twenty different plants and animals he would no longer be a stranger and would be quite susceptible to the "desert bug."

Of course one could not inflict a stranger with this curious malady in a single afternoon, even though he might wish to do so, but a stranger would, by wandering about the paths of the proposed museum, pick up as much interesting information as he would in a month's stay, thus shortening the incubation period of "Desertitis."

Howard Cutler, an accomplished accordion player, who can play about everything anyone may suggest, is the big attraction at the Village Tavern and Bar Sinister.

the cast include Frederic March, Freddie Bartholomew, and Basil Rathbone. An added attraction will be a Pete Smith subject, "Trained Hoofs."

Don't miss "The Little Big Shot" Thursday, Nov. 28. It is the most gripping screen play of the year. Little Sybil Jason, the same size and age as Shirley Temple, is probably the most dramatic child star of the movies. She'll make you cry and laugh. Other members of the cast are Glenda Farrell, Robert Armstrong and Edward Everett Horton.

The magnificent and terrifying spectacle of the armies of two worlds at battle; the color, pageantry and rustic beauty of the Middle Ages; the poignant romance of a king and queen whose love changed the course of world history—

From these story elements Cecil B. DeMille created the plot of the most spectacular and daring picture he has ever produced, "The Crusades," which comes Friday and Saturday, November 29 and 30, to the Palm Springs Theatre.

Featuring Loretta Young and Henry Wilcoxon with a supporting cast of over one hundred name players and thousands of extras, the picture recreates the magnificent period of the history when the combined armies of the kings of Europe followed the fanatical Peter on the crusade to wrest the Holy Land from the Saracens.

Wilcoxon plays the Richard the Lion-Heart, commander of the combined armies. Loretta Young is Berengaria, the girl he had to marry in order to secure supplies for his soldiers.

Wilcoxon regards his wife as a burden at first, but soon comes to love her. Their happiness, however, is threatened by the political intrigues of C. Henry Gordon who plays the King of France. It is his wish that Wilcoxon marry his sister.

Knowing that her continued presence menaces the Crusades, Loretta Young disappears from camp, is wounded and carried to Jerusalem by Saladin, King of the Saracens.

A terrific battle results in the almost complete annihilation of the invading forces. And then, Richard, facing defeat, loss of the woman he loves most and disgrace in the eyes of his men, learns the true meaning of victory in peace.

Ian Keith is cast as Saladin, and Katherine DeMille, C. Aubrey Smith, Josephine Schildkraut and Alan Hale are prominent in the supporting cast.

DON ADMIRAL, DESERT NATURALIST, SPEAKS TO CALEXICO ROTARY CLUB

(Calexico Chronicle)

There are more than 700 species of flowering plants and 70 different animals in this desert area, according to the statement of Don Admiral, naturalist and lecturer from Palm Springs, who addressed the Rotary club members at their weekly luncheon program.

The speaker covered many interesting phases of desert life during his address and showed colored slides of some of the most scenic spots. His comment on the characteristics of many of the well-known desert shrubs proved especially interesting to those present at the meeting.

Discussing Lake Calhulla, which occupied the Imperial basin before the white man came, he said that this lake probably existed as late as six or seven hundred years ago. The white water line which is visible on the mountainside near Travertine rock, he said, was formed by the waters of the lake. Large numbers of Indians dwell around the shores.

He showed many fine views of the palm groups to be found both in the canyons and on the open floor of desert. Some of these palms may have been planted by the Indians, he said, but the majority of them are native.

He urged that newspapers and chambers of commerce adopt the name "Desert of the Palms" for this area, replacing the "Colorado River Desert" term which has been used in the past. The new name is accurately descriptive of the basin, and will be a tremendous asset to this section of the state.

The speaker was introduced by Randall Henderson, who served as chairman of the day and who presented Mr. Admiral as "one of my allies in the campaign which the Chronicle has conducted for many years of selling the desert to its own dwellers."

Seen enjoying a parika chicken dinner at the Palm Springs Hotel lounge were Claudette Colbert and Paul and Daisy Lukas.

Economic Highlights

Few industries enter a new year of business attended by as much publicity as the automobile industry. The annual show, starting in Detroit and spreading thence to every city of any size in the country, is given national attention. This year's show, held two months ahead of the normal time, and grandiloquently entitled "Motordom on Parade," has received and deserved even more than usual notice. It seems to be the opinion of every business publication and commentator that the automobile is leading America back to recovery. Other industries are likewise going ahead—such as the electric, which recently reached a new all-time high in output but not in profits. But the automobile is in a class by itself economically speaking—no other industry today provides so rich and large a market for raw and finished materials of a thousand and one kinds. Result of that fact is obvious. If the automobile industry does well, a legion of other industries share in the improvement, all the way from the mill which provides the materials for upholstery to the repair shop which services your car.

Greatest automobile year was 1929, when 5,621,715 cars came off the assembly lines. Depression brought an amazing drop, culminating in the 1932 low of 1,431,000 cars produced, when almost every maker was in serious difficulties, and several were forced through intricate financial reorganizations in order to avoid bankruptcy. Nineteen-thirty-three saw production approach the 2,000,000 mark, and in 1934, 2,869,000 cars were made. This year estimated production is 3,735,000. That is still a long way from the 1929 peak—but in other ways, the industry is very close to the boom level.

The industry, for example, is providing almost as many jobs now as it did in 1929.

Its wage level, both on an hourly and weekly basis, is higher.

Its profits are twice as large as a year ago, and are coming within shooting distance of the prosperous-day experience.

It provides the largest single market for steel, rubber, plate glass, nickel, mohair and leather.

It is the source, directly and indirectly, of 5,000,000 jobs—one-eighth of all the gainfully employed in the nation, according to the U. S. News.

It is a prime example of efficiency in production and distribution—efficiency that was forced on it by depression. It costs a lot less to make and sell a good car now than it did in 1929, and a large part of that saving naturally goes to the buyer.

From the standpoint of the motorist, the new automobiles, according to the experts, are better, on a dollar for dollar basis, than anything he was able to get before. Cars are larger, faster, more luxurious, more powerful. Safety features abound. More and more gadgets, some useful, some of dubious value, put in an appearance. The trend toward streamlining continues, and one maker has come out with the so-called "car of the future"—a tear-drop affair, with the engine in the rear and with movable chairs inside the body instead of fixed seats. Other makers have gone farther than they ever did in the past to make their cars fleet and advanced, and to increase their economy and efficiency.

Interesting fact is the narrowing of the spread between price of cars in the low and high-cost brackets, excluding the cars of the $5,000-$15,000 class. There have been very little change in the price of cars in the lowest-price class. Medium-priced cars have been made a little cheaper. And in the higher-priced group there have been a number of drastic cuts. That naturally makes competition still more tense than in the past. As Mr. Public goes down automobile row, he is going to have a hard time making a choice.

The market is still dominated by Ford and General Motors, which produce by far the greater percent of all cars made. Independents, such as Chrysler, Packard, Nash, Auburn, Hudson, must operate in the small percent remaining. Some think that the immediate future will witness inroads by independents on the "Big Two's" corner.

THANKSGIVING

When harvests all are garnered in
And chilling winds begin to blow,
Then for the good that we have known
And that which we now know,
We tune our thoughts to thankfulness
And all with one accord
Express our heartfelt gratitude
For these unto the Lord.

The maple leaf has scarlet grown,
The nuts are on the ground,
And pumpkins fair of golden hue
In cornfields glow around.
The colors of the dying year
Are rich beyond compare
And there's a tonic quality
In every breath of air.

Now some are thankful for great gains
And happy with their wealth,
And some will give more fervent thanks
For blessings of good health,
And some, though poor in worldly goods,
With brightest hopes are filled,
And some on sickbeds wanly lie,
By loving kindness thrilled.

Our thankfulness is due, oh, Lord,
Not for our joys alone,
But likewise for the trials hard
Which we have lately known,
And for the strength of soul whereby
Those trials were overcome,
And all the precious days of peace,
Which have blessed every home.

No one so poor, he cannot find
Some cause for thankfulness,
No one so sick, he cannot feel
His blessings might be less;
And they whose cup is brimming full
Will find 'twill sweeter be,
If they will share their happiness
In love and charity.

Johnston, a British subject, born in Shanghai, China, was sentenced to serve one to 15 years in San Quentin state penitentiary by Judge George R. Freeman Monday afternoon in Superior court.

Johnston in his statement to Mathews said he had disposed of some of the jewels in Los Angeles and San Diego. One ring valued at more than $1000 was found in his possession when arrested at San Diego.

Hits and Misses

(Harvey Johnson)

Hunters who were out at the peep of dawn, chasing the festive quail on the opening day, discovered that the birds were elusive. They are as wild, in fact, as some of those Hollywood dames. Mountain quail is a majestic game bird; one of the most beautiful of all the birdlife of California. The male is especially beautiful. Humans and quail differ—in the human race the women are more beautiful than the men, while in the quail family the males are more beautiful than the females. Lady quail need a little rouge and lipstick.

The results of a day's hunt may not have been satisfactory, in some cases, as to bag limit, but the hunter who goes after quail or ducks once in awhile is usually better off than the man who sticks around his office, with his nose applied to the grindstone. A day in the open is good medicine.

We get an idea about new methods of hunting from a paper in the Middlewest, which says: "Dr. Benjamin Gingol, of the Francis Drake hotel, hunted pheasants all day and bagged only one, while his dog brought back two birds it had snagged itself. Dr. Gingol tied his hunting license to his dog's neck and came home wearing the dog collar himself."

"Myron Shaver, of Wayzata, pinched himself to make sure he wasn't drunk and seeing things when, hunting near Mankato, Minnesota the other day, he came upon four men, one of whom was carrying a shotgun, one of whom was playing a saxophone, the third of whom was playing a cornet, and the last of whom was beating a bass drum! . . . It was their original idea of a means to flush pheasants—and by golly, they were actually getting birds with their cornfield orchestra!"

Why not try a brass band on local quail which refuse to rise? A saxophone might scare the birds to death, without any shooting.

If the Republican party is to succeed at the next election it should muzzle some of the former leaders who are breaking their long and sedate silence by talking much at this hour. Old GOP war horses with spavins, distemper, ringbone and collar blisters, and who are wind-blown, are not likely to appeal to the masses. And that goes for decrepit Democratic war horses of the human species, too.

Tax-paying time is here. It is a brave person who still keeps on paying taxes, because he won't get so much out of it as the folks who toil not, neither do they spin, except by spinning around in cars. Tax-paying is a duty, however, and so let everybody who can pay go on with the agony or pleasure as long as life or bank account shall last.

Pride of ownership has created the wealth of real estate values. There may be less pride in that respect, nowadays, since many are discouraged. But, just wait. Real estate at present prices is the safest, sanest, surest investment in America. Buy now and reap the reward of later years.

Christopher Billopp, writing in the Baltimore Sun, asks in all seriousness what "property" really is. Chris can't fool us; we know. Property is something for which you labor all your life, for which you fight in back yards and in the courts; something which you doctor and repair once you get it; something you guard against fire, water and bandits; something you treasure a few short years, then give to someone else to worry about or throw away. That's property, Mr. Billopp.

EARLY IMPROVEMENT OF THE WHITEWATER TO MORONGO ROAD

The California Highway Commission of which C. D. Hamilton of Banning is a member, has decided to oil the state's portion of the 29 Palms road, extending over Devil's Garden to the San Bernardino county line. The stretch of present dirt road is from Whitewater to the end of the secondary state highway in Morongo Valley.

However, when the state completes this project it will tie in with the oil-mix road of San Bernardino county, running through Morongo Valley and over the summit to Yucca Valley. From there a few miles of open road, but level and comparatively well graded, until reaching the oiled road of the county again, terminating about five miles west of and running into Twenty-Nine Palms.

Beginning of the work will depend on weather conditions. Oil-mix and rain do not make a good combination. The hotter, the better.

MOVING—OR JUST GOING SOME PLACE?

Along the highways and by-ways, men, women and children traveling to that distant country where the pastures are greener—and, at least in their belief and hope—the sun shines brighter and money "flows" like water.

Thousands migrating from place to place have found the pastures are just as green on their own side of the country—there is just as much money—and, then there are friends to look after them at home.

But still they come to California—that land of enchantment for some—the land of disappointment for others.

Every form of conveyance from hitch-hiking to a "private" freight car is sought by these rolling stones. Jack Wood, S. P. officer, tells of a family of 13 riding a freight train recently—four of the children were from 2 to 8 years of age—three daughters from 17 to 22—four sons in their later teens—and, of course, the mother and father—all riding along serenely in a Southern Pacific box car.

But wait, Wood was wrong about the number—just after he had counted the members of the family a goat strayed in sight—"milk supply for the youngsters," said the mother. Further questioning brought out that the fam-

APRICOT SITUATION IS UNCHANGED IN STATE

Little change in the dried apricot situation was reported here this week. It is understood that several growers in Hemet Valley, holding approximately 300 tons of the finest quality fruit, have written to the California Prune and Apricot Growers association in San Jose asking them on what terms they will take the fruit.

Buyers for independent packers have not been active during the past two weeks. Prices ranging from 11 to 12 cents have been offered and a few deals have been closed.

ily "was going to California where they feed you!"

And still another case—a 15-year-old girl, giving her occupation as a "scholar," just riding along in a "private" freight car—this case and many more each day. Wood estimates that 300 pass through Coachella Valley via freight train each day. Add 200 more for highway hitch-hikers, and we find there are still thousands of people on the "tramp."

Better stay where you are known, folks. You can't eat sunshine—and especially not the chilly days you'll find on the coast—even though it is "unusual."—Coachella Submarine.

CONGRESSMAN SAM COLLINS ON A VISIT TO PALM SPRINGS; PUBLIC BUSINESS

Congressman Sam Collins, accompanied by Mrs. Collins, paid a pleasant visit to The Desert Sun office Monday. This public official announces that he expects to be a candidate for re-election.

At the last session of congress Mr.

Collins introduced a bill permitting Indians to lease their lands at Palm Springs. At the time there were no protests. Then followed protests from Palm Springs citizens and the bill was left to die.

Mr. Collins' visit to Palm Springs, Monday, was for the purpose of conferring with parties who were interested in the local bill.

Colonel Irving J. Phillipson, regimental commander of the 30th Infantry at the Presidio of San Francisco, has announced that among those recruits who have satisfactorily passed their preliminary training and have graduated from the "rookie squad" to their respective companies is Private Albert W. King of Palm Springs.

Preliminary training for all recruits includes rifle marksmanship, chemical warfare defense, first aid instruction, personal hygiene, physical drills and various other subjects designed to build the individual into an alert, physically fit and active member of the United States Army.

According to word received from the presidio, Private King enlisted during the recent recruiting drive of the San Francisco regiment and underwent an intensive sixty day training period prior to joining his company.

Chief of Police William Seaton has been appointed deputy county health officer in charge of the Palm Springs district.

Active recruiting for the 30th Infantry was suspended by War Department orders, recently, due to the fact that the enlistments were exceeding the appropriations. A waiting list, however, is being formed, and active recruiting will again be resumed on January 1st of next year.

Mrs. Erma Hubbell, formerly hostess at El Mirador, is now assistant manager of the Norconian, famous hotel and spa at Norco, in this county.

Anthony Burke, realtor, is now associated with Raymond Cree in his office opposite the Desert Inn. The office is in the same location where Mr. Cree started in the real estate business here 12 years ago.

Alfred Gerlinger, son of Carl Gerlinger, famous inventor and president of the Gerlinger Machine Works in Oregon, is back in Palm Springs for another brief visit. While here is staying at the Palm Springs Hotel. Mr. Gerlinger will drive back to Dallas in his new Oldsmobile which he has just purchased in the East.

No, that isn't Johnny, the Phillip Morris call boy, at the Central Hotel. It's Roland Gray, bell-boy, and son of Manager Earl Gray. Roland has a natty new uniform, the exact duplicate of the one worn by Johnny of Phillip Morris fame. Roland is just the right size to wear a uniform of that type, and he makes a very good impression as he helps the guests with their baggage.

R. P. Radich, sewer contractor, has located here in order to be on the ground when the sewer system is put in. His company specializes in making house connections to the sewer lines. He has had 40 years of experience in the business. Mr. Radich and his family came here from San Bernardino. His office is established next to the Robert L. Edwards real estate office.

Edgar Rice Burroughs, famous author of Tarzan stories, was stricken with appendicitis Wednesday, at his winter residence here, and was rushed to Mercy hospital, in Los Angeles, where he was operated upon immediately.

Sylvia Weaver, society reporter for a Los Angeles newspaper, came here this week with several professional models and a photographer. Photographs of the group, showing the latest desert fashions, were made on the El Mirador grounds. The pictures will appear in the rotogravure section of the Los Angeles Times.

Misses Sophie and Stella Bennett, of Saginaw, Michigan, are visiting with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Read, at Josephine's dining room.

PUBLIC STENOGRAPHER HERE TO MAKE PALM SPRINGS HER PERMANENT HOME

Mrs. Christine Blanchard and small son have come to Palm Springs to spend this and many other winters, they hope, in this village.

Mrs. Blanchard, formerly of Los Angeles, was a public stenographer in the Security Bank building. She is now in the office of The Desert Sun, where she hopes to serve the community in the capacity of public stenographer.

Mrs. Blanchard has a home in Alhambra and has lived in that community for twenty-five years, being the daughter of Leonard Luy, a pioneer of Southern California and subdivider in San Gabriel. She is probably better known as a concert pianist in and around Los Angeles, having played and taught the piano for many years when not occupied as secretary and stenographer.

The Richard Leonard Luy American Legion Post No. 397 of Monterey Park, was named in honor of her brother and she is the gold star sister of the American Legion Auxiliary of the same post.

Palm Springs cannot be praised highly enough, according to Mrs. Blanchard, because her son, Wayne, for whose health she is here, has gained a pound a week and has improved greatly in this desert climate. Part of the credit for this, she feels, is due to the school and its cooperation in the handling of frail children. The delicate and underweight children have an hour's rest period from twelve to one every day; are weighed each week, and have a nurse's care at all times during school hours.

Mrs. Blanchard is so well pleased with Palm Springs, the climate and the inhabitants that she proposes to make this her winter home from now on.

Football Players Treated to Turkey

A turkey dinner in honor of the football players of Banning Union high school was given Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Weaver. Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. Troy Watson and Mrs. B. F. Allen arranged the dinner.

The table was attractively decorated with miniature goal posts and chocolate footballs. The menu also included pumpkin pie and whipped cream for dessert. Following the dinner the boys attended a dance sponsored by the Desert Edge Social club at Odd Fellows hall.

Among those who attended were Ralph Murchison, Damon Watson, Joe Henderson, Buster Crumpton, Ben Allen, Wilfred Dale, Roger Manwarling, Bub Jost, Rex Ayon, Charles Weaver, Les Black, Teddy McKinney, Max Rubright, Dan Choisser, Stuart Elder, Johnny Jensen, Mason Lund, Coach Franklin Kiech and Mrs. Kiech.

James Bryan and Rose Marie Francis Are Wed

James Bryan of Palm Springs and Miss Rose Marie Francis of New York City were married at Yuma, Arizona, Monday afternoon. Mrs. Bryan is an attractive auburn-haired young lady, and has resided here for the past six weeks. Mr. Bryan is well known in Palm Springs, having operated a barber shop and beauty parlor here during the past eight seasons.

Dinner Meeting Is Held At the Desert Inn

The Desert Inn was the setting, Wednesday evening, for a business and social meeting of nearly a hundred people who are interested in safety measures, particularly so on public works.

Contractors on the Colorado River aqueduct, executives representing such contractors, representatives of the State Industrial Accident Commission, and insurance companies, gathered at a business meeting and dinner during which the safety features of the aqueduct work were discussed.

Present also, but in a separate dining room, were the ladies of the party to the number of 25.

The Inn provided entertainment for the guests.

Pinkham-Simpson Nuptials

Miss Dorothy Simpson and Burton Pinkham, both residents of Palm Springs, were married in Yuma, on November 12.

Mrs. Pinkham, a charming young lady of the blonde type, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simpson of Long Beach. Mr. Pinkham is the son of Mrs. F. W. Pilsbury of Amada Drive, Pasadena. She is popular in Pasadena social circles, where she is the president of the Monday Morning Club. Mr. Pinkham has been in newspaper work for the past 12 years and recently established the Palm Springs News Bureau, preparing special articles for metropolitan newspapers of all parts of the state.

PROPOSED NEW NAME FOR DESERT MEETS WITH MUCH FAVOR

A number of community leaders expressed themselves this week in favor of the name "Desert of the Palms." Here is what they had to say:

Earl Coffman: "A desert that isn't red certainly shouldn't be called Colorado. There would be some reason for the name if the desert were located in the state of Colorado. I think 'Desert of the Palms' is the best name for our desert, for it has many palm-covered canyons and it is the only place where such palms grow native. It's the right name, so let's use it."

Hobart Garlick: "We have avoided using the name Colorado desert in our advertising, because it is confusing, consequently our area is simply referred to as 'the desert.' 'Desert of the Palms' is an excellent name, and I hope it will be adopted by all who have occasion to talk or write about our desert."

Palmer Gillette: "The new name for our desert, as suggested in the last issue of The Desert Sun, is excellent. It is euphonious, and it accurately describes this area. It should be acceptable to everyone here, as well as in the Coachella Valley, where the fruit of the palm is the principal asset. I have never liked the name 'Colorado Desert' for such a large region located entirely in California, because the name is misleading."

Dr. C. D. Williamson: "I think so much of the new name that I expect to have 'Desert of the Palms, Loveliest of All,' printed on my stationery in the future."

A. W. Stark: "The name of this desert should have been changed long ago. I think 'Desert of the Palms' is very good, and I doubt if a better name could be found that would so accurately describe our desert and be so acceptable to all concerned."

George Karoly: "I think the name of this desert should be changed, but I prefer the name 'Palm Desert' because it is shorter. Since you suggested the change of name in the last issue of The Desert Sun, I have heard others say that the name 'Palm Desert' would be preferable."

Carl G. Lykken: "'Desert of the Palms' is a good name. I approve of it, and I hope the new name will be adopted and used generally."

Mrs. Frank Goff: "'Desert of the Palms' is a very good name for our desert, and I will use it in my new hotel folders. This desert isn't in Colorado, so why should it be called Colorado desert?"

Elwood Lloyd: "'Desert of the Palms' is the right name for this desert, which differs from all other deserts of the West because of the native Washingtonia palm trees. I like names that are euphonious, and also descriptive of the locality. I always preferred the original Indian name for the Coachella Valley, which meant 'Valley of the Little Flying Shells' rather than the modern name, 'Coachella Valley,' because that valley has millions of the little flying shells which were deposited there when it was an inland sea."

Bob Ransom: "I prefer 'Palm Desert,' because it is shorter, but the word 'Palm' should be used in naming our desert."

Only one person interviewed objected to the changing of the name; not because he didn't like the suggested new name, but because he prefers to perpetuate the old names. R. Bruce Cregar had this to say: "The Colorado desert was named by early Spanish explorers over 300 years ago, and I would prefer it to remain the same. We have changed most everything in this state to something modern. The palms are a part of this desert, and it is well-known now even in other countries. These palms are found only from Snow Creek to Carreyo Gorge. The palms in the Short-horn Mountains of Arizona are Washingtonia Arizonensis, being of a smaller type than the Washingtonia Filifera palms found on our desert."

NEW "DATE FRUIT CAKE" PROVES POPULAR FOR THANKSGIVING TABLE

The Palm Springs Date Market has recently put a new product on the market, the demand for which now exceeds all expectations. Experts employed by the date market have been experimenting on a date fruit cake, for some time, and recently succeeded in perfecting a product that is declared to be more delicious than any fruit cake of any sort. Principal ingredients of the fruit cake are fresh dates and branded dates. The top is inset with walnuts and red cherries. It is a home-made product and looks very appetizing. The fruit cake is wrapped and packed for mailing to any part of the nation, and many orders are going out to mid-western and
